

The Georgian

Clay Shooting
on The Thames

The Georgian Built in Bristol and launched in February 1996. A stunning boat, she features a magnificent saloon that enables passengers to have unimpeded views of the Thames whilst dining. Up to 80 can be served a silver service meal, or up to 140 can partake of one of our buffets yet despite her size a relatively small group of 10 or 15 people wouldn't feel swamped by the space – a very clever space!

The teak-panelled interior incorporates brass fittings, wall to wall carpeting and plush upholstery. A fully-equipped kitchen, where meals are prepared on board from fresh ingredients, also enables your chosen chef to operate with ease should you prefer to use your own caterers.

Our onboard bar offers a complete range of alcoholic and soft drinks. The top deck is covered by an automated sun roof which lowers as the boat passes under the low bridges of the upper Thames. This space is perfect for evening summer cocktail parties and BBQ's not to mention clay pigeon shooting.

Bar Prices - Your bar onboard can be run on an account, cash or mixture basis. Prices are comparable to pub prices and a full range of drinks are available on board. For account bars a 10% charge is levied.

Wines and Champagnes – We have a comprehensive list of both that can be pre-ordered if required.

Piers - We can operate out of most central London piers with Festival Pier on the South Bank being a favoured option, and Westminster being a good option for the North Bank. Canary Wharf for Clay shooting gives you the optimum shooting time as this is the closes pier to where we shoot but it closes at 5pm so late arrivals back would be best suited to St Katherines or Tower Pier.

AV Equipment - Should you need to do a presentation whilst on board then our 50" Plasma Screen and sound system would be perfect for you or you may simply like some background music or information playing.

The clay pigeon shooting includes full instruction from professional and friendly instructors. We are able to offer a variety of different targets so both experienced and novice shots will get full enjoyment from the day.

Timings can be to suit but bear in mind it gets dark from 4pm Nov – Jan!

Prices vary depending on group size – the bigger the group the better the cost per person due to the fixed costs involved.

Minimum group size on The Georgian is 10. Maximum group size is 90.

Latest departure time Oct – March 1pm.
